The Golden Retriever is a wonderful dog; however, they are predisposed to several conditions: ear infections, hot spots, excessive shedding, and generally a need for lots of exercise in order to be good house pets. They are not outside dogs to be tied or enclosed away from "their people" and can become quite loud, destructive, and even self-mutilating if made to live in these conditions. Many require a good amount of attention, and when not given the attention they wish, will resort to tearing up your favorite slippers, gardens, etc. in order to get your attention. Golden Retrievers are known to be in-your-face and velcro dogs! These dogs are excellent obedience candidates and can be easily trained to be wonderful companions – if you will work with them. Obedience is obtained by being fair and consistent, and offering praise when the deed is obtained.

Quality care for your Golden is essential. You should assume that a Golden Retriever will cost approximately $300 to feed and $400 a year in vet bills, heartworm prevention and flea and tick prevention. These amounts do not include expenses associated with emergencies, illness, and injuries. Additional expenses include treats, grooming, collars, leads, bowls and toys. Please be sure you can afford your companion animal before deciding to adopt! We want you to be thrilled with each other and would be glad to help in any way to ensure this. Please email us with questions at GoldensInNeed@gcgr.org

Questions pertaining to the animal's being allowed on the furniture, whether you have fencing or not, etc. are to ensure that you will get a dog you can live with. Most dogs will need a fenced yard, and some dogs that have previously been allowed on furniture might be a constant struggle for you, if you do not wish to allow this to continue. Your answers will not, however, jeopardize your application.

Remember, adoption fees only partially cover the cost of our dogs. They have been examined by one of our network veterinarians and their individual medical needs are addressed. Additionally, each dog has had vaccinations, a heartworm and fecal test, a spay or neuter and microchip registration.

I have read and completed the above to the best of my knowledge and agree to the conditions herein.
